

Highway of Heroes

Words and music © Tony Turner, 2008

www.tonyturner.ca

You are my brother, two year's older
You are my hero, you are a soldier
You should be riding here beside me
Instead I'm hiding these tears inside me
While the uniforms stand and salute
For their comrade in arms who did not make it through
But I'm lost in the lights of this high speed cortege
On the highway of heroes with you

I see red flags on the railing
Trucks and police cars, lights a-blazing
They burn like candles for each soul taken
Who holds the hand of those left forsaken?
Through this parade of heartache and pride
It's a no mans land that we go blindly through
I'm lost in the lights of this high speed cortege
On the highway of heroes with you

You are one dream, one life
One brave sacrifice
You are home now, home forever
Let these memories keep us together
As the crowds gather on the overpass
For the nation's dreams that are paid for by the few
While I'm lost in the lights of this high speed cortege
On this highway of heroes with you

Yes I'm lost in the lights of this high speed cortege
On the highway of heroes with you